IN THE DAYS OF HIS FLESH,

Jesus offered up prayers and supplications with loud cries and tears,
to him who was able to save him from death,
and he was heard for his godly fear.

Although he was a Son,
he learned obedience through what he suffered;
and being made perfect

he became the source of eternal salvation to all who obey him, being designated by God a high priest
according to the order of Melchizedek.

AN EXPLANATION OF THE MECHANISM OF OUR SALVATION

HEBREWS 1:1–14

1 <sup>1</sup>In many and various ways God spoke of old to our fathers by the prophets; <sup>2</sup>but in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son, whom he appointed the heir of all things, through whom also he created the ages. <sup>3</sup>He reflects the glory of God and bears the very stamp of his nature, upholding the universe by his word of power. When he had made purification for sins, he sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high, <sup>4</sup>having become as much superior to angels as the name he has obtained is more excellent than theirs.

<sup>5</sup>For to what angel did God ever say, “You are my Son, today I have begotten you”? Or again, “I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son”?

<sup>6</sup>And again, when he brings the first-born into the world, he says,

“Let all God’s angels worship him.”

<sup>7</sup>Of the angels he says, “Who makes his angels winds and his servants flames of fire.”

<sup>8</sup>But of the Son he says,

“Your throne, O God, is for ever and ever,
the righteous scepter is the scepter of your kingdom.

<sup>9</sup>You have loved righteousness and hated lawlessness;
therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness beyond your comrades.”

and the heavens are the work of your hands;

<sup>11</sup>they will perish, but you remain; they will all grow old like a garment, <sup>12</sup>like a cloak you will roll them up, and they will be changed.

But you are the same, and your years will never end.”

<sup>13</sup>But to what angel has he ever said,

“Sit at my right hand, till I make your enemies a stool for your feet”?

<sup>14</sup>Are they not all ministering spirits sent forth to serve, for the sake of those who are to obtain salvation?

There are things to consider when we begin to study any book of the Bible. What can we know about the human author? To whom was he writing? What was his purpose? Shedding light on the author's intention can help us to understand what God's Word is saying to us in the here and now. Things that concerned the early Church remain important to present-day Christians.

It is reasonably safe to assume that all of the books of the Bible were written by men. Although the Letter to the Hebrews once was thought to have been written by Paul, most scholars now treat its authorship as anonymous. Even at the time the Bible was compiled, the authorship of this book appears to have been uncertain. The letters that are clearly written by Paul traditionally are arranged from longest to shortest. The Letter to the Hebrews is placed outside of that grouping at the end, suggesting that even early Christians were reluctant to attribute this book to Paul.

From the content of the Letter to the Hebrews, we know that its author was knowledgeable about Old Testament theology. This suggests that he had close ties to the Jewish priesthood. The work displays familiarity with Greek philosophy as well, which is not entirely surprising since many Jews were Hellenized during the period of the Maccabees prior to the Incarnation of Jesus.

That this work is addressed to Hebrews rather than to Jews suggests a broad audience and at the same time indicates the author's strong interest in the Old Testament.

All Christians are familiar with the reason that Jesus died. Almost none of us can explain how Jesus' death is able to bring about our salvation. This appears to be the task of the author of the Letter to the Hebrews. Why might it be that so few people consider this question? Consider what impact understanding such a concept might be likely to have on a person's life.

1 Read the Letter to the Hebrews 1:1–2. How has God previously communicated with the ancestors of those to whom this Scripture is addressed? How is God now communicating with humanity? What might have happened to separate the time “of old” and “these last days” that would change the mode of communication used by God? Consider why the author chose to introduce his work with a discussion of the methods that God uses to speak to humanity.

2 The Letter the Hebrews 1:2 teaches that through his Son, God created the ages. Refer to the Gospel According to John 1:1–2 to explain the role of God's Son in Creation. How is this related to the way in which God now is communicating with humanity?

3 What has God's Son been appointed to inherit? What are the circumstances under which a person receives an inheritance, and in what way are inheritances stipulated? What purpose might the author have for mentioning this inheritance?

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE SUPERIOR?

When the author of the Letter to the Hebrews 1:4 writes that the Son of God is superior to the angels, he is making the claim that the Son of God has attained a higher position. Although God's Son is human as well as divine, he outranks heavenly beings. The Son of God is emphasized as being more than another prophet or other divine messenger.

an•gel messenger The Greek word ἄγγελος (angelos) means “messenger” or “envoy.” In the Bible, angels serve as God's messengers. The Letter to the Hebrews announces that God now is communicating with humanity through his Son, then lists ways in which the Son differs from the angels. The author's point is that humanity should not view God's Son as just another heavenly messenger.

THE SON AS PRIEST, PROPHET & KING

Paragraph 783 in the Catechism of the Catholic Church teaches: "Jesus Christ is the one whom the Father anointed with the Holy Spirit and established as priest, prophet, and king." In the opening chapter of the Letter to the Hebrews, the author manages to work in references to all three of these roles.

The very first verse of the Letter to the Hebrews establishes God's Son as the replacement for Old Testament prophets who previously spoke God's word (primarily but not exclusively) to the Hebrews, the descendants of Abraham.

The Letter to the Hebrews 1:3 points out the God's Son accomplished purification for sins, the primary duty of priests in the Old and New Covenants.

The Letter to the Hebrews 1:8 describes the Son of God as having access to God's throne and to the scepter of God's kingdom.

4 Read the Letter to the Hebrews 1:3-4. Paragraph 705 in the Catechism of the Catholic Church discusses the stamp of God's nature in terms of image and likeness, two theologically different terms. How does the Church explain the difference between God's image and God's likeness? Why is it important to humanity that the Son of God has assumed the image of God and also restored God's likeness? Consider ways in which the Holy Spirit can be seen in the passage in the Letter to the Hebrews about the Son reflecting the glory of God? (Note that some translations substitute "refulgence" when indicating that the Son reflects God's glory.) What are some ways in which the Holy Spirit is active in the present day?

A FEW WORDS ABOUT THE ILLUSTRATIONS

Each lesson in the The Letter to the Hebrews: An Explanation of the Mechanism of Our Salvation features a different illustration from a journal of visual meditations created by Tami Palladino. Tami's illustrations demonstrate a type of lectio divina that relies on visualization as an aid to a deeper prayer life. Readers who enjoy drawing may want to create a similar prayer journal. Visit our website to learn more about lectio divina or to see all of Tami's journal illustrations that accompany this Bible study.

5 According to the Letter to the Hebrews 1:3, what was the mission on earth of God’s Son? What reasons has the author been suggesting to explain why the Son was able to accomplish this mission? What did God’s Son do after accomplishing his mission? What impact on humanity already is obvious as a result of the Son’s mission? What effect is humanity yet to realize?

THE LETTER OF THE LAW

The Letter to the Hebrews 1:2 states that God’s Son has been appointed heir of all things. The author of the Letter to the Hebrews mentions this even before noting that the Son reflects the glory of God and bears the imprint of God’s nature. The essential fact in the mind of the author of the Letter to the Hebrews is that in order for there to be an inheritance, there must be a legal will and testament naming the heir. The Son of God fulfills the letter of this spiritually binding law.

The law permeates Scripture. The book of Genesis 3:2–3 describes the first commandment (law) God gives to humanity. In the Gospel According to Matthew 5:17, Jesus insists that he has not come to abolish the law. In the Gospel According to John 13:34, Jesus gives humanity a new commandment. The book of Revelation focuses on Final Judgment under the law.

u•ni•verse

the order governing all of existence

The Greek word translated as universe in the Letter to the Hebrews 1:3 is κόσμος (kosmos), literally “order.” In the Letter to the Hebrews, the universe is defined not by space but by laws that govern it. The universe consists of those laws and by extension the things impacted by them. The author of the Letter to the Hebrews is concerned with how those laws operate. The universe itself is described as beyond all limitations. Through his Son, God created space and time—and everything else imaginable

HOW IS IT THAT WE ARE SAVED?

Christians are so accustomed to the gift of salvation underlying our faith that most of us give little thought to the mechanics of how it works—or to the incredible nature of God’s love in providing for humanity to enter into eternal life.

How salvation works is the central question that the author of the Letter to the Hebrews attempts to answer. Other books in the Bible set the stage for the coming of Jesus Christ. The Old Testament is filled with passages that the Church interprets as messianic and that foretell the coming of Jesus. The Gospels describe in detail who Jesus is and what Jesus is like. Their authors leave no doubt about Jesus’ purpose—Jesus came to bring salvation for humanity. The New Testament Letters provide practical information in terms of what men and women need to do in order that to attain this salvation.

The Letter to the Hebrews is unique in the Scriptures because it answers the question that no other book in the Bible addresses: “How is it that Jesus is able to bring about salvation?”

How can this core concept of Christianity be explained? How does the mechanism of salvation work? How is it that one person can reconcile fallen humanity to God? How is it possible that the death of one person—even if he is God—can fill in the gap created by the sin of all men and women?

The author of the Letter to the Hebrews begins developing important aspects of his theme in the very first verse: “In many and various ways God spoke of old to our fathers by the prophets.” The mechanism of salvation is tied to the relationship God established with the ancestors of the Jews, the Hebrews.

In the Letter to the Hebrews 1:2, we learn that something has happened to change this relationship: “But in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, through whom also he created the ages.”

These two introductory verses contain the key to unlocking the mystery of how the mechanism of salvation works, which the remainder of the Letter to the Hebrews goes on to explain in rich detail.

re•ful•gence radiance From the Latin refulgeo, “to shine back” or “to shine brightly.” In some translations of the Letter to the Hebrews 1:3 the Son is seen as the refulgence of God’s glory.

6 According to the Letter to the Hebrews 1:4, what is the position of the Son of God in relationship to the angels? So far, what name has the author of the Letter to the Hebrews used when referring to Jesus? Consider what Jesus did to obtain this name. What point might the author be trying to emphasize about Jesus?

7 Read the Letter to the Hebrews 1:5, in which the author provides evidence from Psalms 2:7 and the Second Book of Samuel 7:14 to support his claim that God’s Son is superior to the angels. Consider what made it possible for the human authors of the Old Testament to write so definitively about God’s Son.

8 Read the Letter to the Hebrews 1:6–7. What instructions has God given to the angels in regard to how they are to treat the Son? What task do angels usually perform? If necessary, refer to the book of Genesis 19:15 and the Book of Judges 13:3–5. Consider why angels are not mentioned as one of the ways God spoke “of old.” What does the fact that angels are like wind and fire suggest about how their nature differs from the nature of the Son?

JUDAISM’S ROOTS

We might expect this book of the New Testament to be called the Letter to the Jews instead of the Letter to the Hebrews. The word “Jews” would suggest the intended audience was 1st-century practitioners of the law-based religion of Judaism that developed after 538 BC when the Babylonian Exile came to an end. The word “Hebrews” indicates that this early explanation of Christianity is tied to the foundations of Judaism, which is built on much older Hebrew religious tradition.

YOUR YEARS WILL NEVER END

The Letter to the Hebrews 1:2 establishes that someone participated with God in Creation—and that person was the Son of God. In the Letter to the Hebrews 1:3, the mission of the Son of God is identified as making purification for sins. The Son who reflects the glory of God and bears the stamp of God is the very same Son who has been able to accomplish purification from sins. How was the Son able to do this? Why could only the Son do it? Perhaps most mysterious of all—why did the Son wait so long before doing it?

The Letter to the Hebrews uses Old Testament law and ideas to build the case for how the Son has been able to accomplish purification from sins. Old Testament rules governing reality are viewed as binding, so the Son’s work of purification must fall within the Old Covenant.

Although much has been written about covenants in both Testaments, there essentially is only one covenant, expressed in Exodus 6:7: “I will take you for my people, and I will be your God.” This represents a contract between humanity and God, in which each side puts up collateral. The people agree to follow God’s law, and in return God promises them life. The covenant is a life-or-death proposition, the mutually exclusive terms of which are set forth in the book of Deuteronomy 30:15–20.

The single characteristic that is most emphasized about the Son of God in the first chapter in the Letter to the Hebrews is that the Son is by definition eternal. He is life itself. Present at the Creation of all ages, the Son of God exists outside of the constraints of time and space.

The Son upholds the universe, which is beyond limitation and encompasses time and space—and anything else humanity can imagine. Since the universe was created through the Son, the Son himself is beyond limitation. The Son of God is eternal.

9 Read the Letter to the Hebrews 1:8–12. Read Psalms 45:7–9* and Psalms 102:26–28*. What evidence supports the claim of the author of the Letter to the Hebrews that these Old Testament passages are referring to the Son of God? In what ways do these passages from the Psalms point to the eternal nature of God’s Son?

10 Read the Letter to the Hebrews 1:13–14. What point might the author be trying to make by mentioning a second time that the Son of God is seated at God’s right hand? Who is it that the angels are sent to serve, and for what purpose? Reflect on whether ministering spirits can be seen at work in the present-day world for the purpose of helping men and women to obtain salvation.

HOW GOD COMMUNICATES

It is unknown whether the author of the Letter to the Hebrews was familiar with the Gospel According to John 1:1—which refers to the Son of God as the Word of God—but the Letter to the Hebrews begins by contrasting the old way God spoke to his people with the new way God now speaks. In the times “of old” God communicated remotely through the intermediary voice of the prophets, but the Son of God is more than another prophet.

Because angels are messengers for God, they also serve as intermediaries, but the Son of God is more than another messenger. Something significant has happened to change the history of humanity, and the Son of God now is a meeting point between God and man.

Supernatural communication skills are not the only way in which the Son of God is superior to the angels, however. The angels are ethereal—like wind and fire. As part of the contingent of all created things “in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible” described in Paul’s Letter to the Colossians 1:16, the angels have been created through the Son of the God and for the Son of God. The angels did not always exist. The Son of God is superior to the angels because the Son of God is eternal. God’s Son was present and participated in Creation.

GOD HAS SPOKEN

“The Letter to the Hebrews 1:1–2 teaches: “In many and various ways God spoke of old to our fathers by the prophets, but in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son.” This act of redemption marked the high point of the history of man within God’s loving plan. God entered the history of humanity and, as a man, became an actor in that history, one of the thousands of millions of human beings but at the same time unique. Through the Incarnation God gave human life the dimension that he intended man to have from his first beginning; he has granted that dimension definitively—in the way that is peculiar to him alone, in keeping with his eternal love and mercy, with the full freedom of God—and he has granted it also with the bounty that enables us, in considering the original sin and the whole history of the sins of humanity, to repeat with amazement the words of the Sacred Liturgy: “O happy fault, which gained us so great a Redeemer! ”

—Pope St. John Paul II
Redemptor Hominis

A LOOK AT SOME MESSIANIC PSALMS

The Letter to the Hebrews relies on Old Testament messianic prophecies to prove that the Son of God is superior to the angels and to explain the mechanism of salvation. Psalms 2:7 prophesies that the Messiah will be God’s own Son. Psalms 45:7–9* reveals that the Son of God is anointed by God, that is, he is granted a share in God’s power and authority. Psalms 97:7 prophesies that the angels will bow before the Son of God. In Psalms 102:26–28*, the Son—like God himself—is described as eternal. Psalms 104:4 teaches that powerful forces of nature—wind, fire, and flame—serve the Son of God. Finally, Psalms 110:1 foretells that the Son of God is ordained to sit at the right hand of God the Father. Jesus Christ has not yet been mentioned by name, but it is apparent that he is the one being described.
